AROUND TOWN.

—Hear Judge Allen to-night.
—Mayor Winter and Alderman Foley are in Cairo.

—Mrs. E. B. Pettit and child are in Paducah visiting relatives and friends.

—Mrs. B. F. Parker left the city yesterday for a visit to friends in Dubuque, Iowa.

—Miss Lulu Henderson, of Columbus, Ky., is the guest of Miss Ada Lester, of this city.

—Mrs. P. W. Barclay left Cairo yesterday to visit friends in Russellville, Kentucky.

—Al. M. Antrim left Cairo last evening for Metropolis, where he will engage in the business of merchant tailoring.

—Go to the Court-house to-night.

—The Mound City Base Ball friends came down yesterday to try their hands on our boys, but from some cause the game fizzled.

—Mr. Whitcomb will soon commence the erection of a two story brick business house on the south side of Eighth street, on the lots adjoining the Casino saloon.

—Mr. James Bartleson, of Putaski county, was in Cairo yesterday. He is a loud Green-backer, and is arranging for the organization of a National club in his county.

—Hear Judge Allen to-night.

—R. M. Dowe, a St. Louis, drummer, was arrested by Officers Cain and Olmstead and fined by Justice Robinson yesterday morning, for overstepping the city ordinances.

—Go to the Court-house to-night.

—The members of the state board of health who arrived in the city yesterday, and the board of health of this city, will meet this morning to discuss the building of a quarantine hospital.

—Hear Judge Allen to-night.

—The Rev. Mr. George informs us by postal card that he expects to be at home in time to preach to his congregation in the Presbyterian Church to-morrow (Sunday) morning and evening.

—The Box Factory shut down work on Thursday morning for repairs. The concern will be opened up again on Monday morning. A new iron roof over the factory is one of the improvements being made.

—Several of Metropolis' fair daughters came down to Cairo on the Arkansas Belle for a pleasure trip last evening. Among them was Miss Helen Brown, a reader of THE BULLETIN, who favored us with a call.

—Go to the Court-house to-night.

—It should be remembered that Judge Allen, the Democratic candidate for congress, will speak at the court-house to-night. Let everybody, Democrats, Republicans, and Nationals turn out and listen to him.

—The unfinished sale of Thursday, at the Farmers' Tobacco Warehouse, was resumed yesterday morning. The attendance was light, all of the foreign buyers having left after the big sale, and sales were limited. They consisted of four hogsheds medium leaf, $4.70, 4.50, 4.50, and one hogsheds of lugs at $3.05.

—Go to the Court-house to-night.

—Health officer Summerwell says he means business, and will prosecute every man and woman in the city if he finds it necessary, but that he will have the offensive smelling places cleaned up. He yesterday caused to be arrested a man and woman, both property owners, who were fined five dollars and costs each because of their failure to heed his warning.

—Go to the Court-house to-night.

—Charley Gibson has a sweet tooth and so has Charley Bowman. They are colored boys, and yesterday they broke open an Illinois Central freight car and made away with a lot of canned fruit, wine and other stuff to the value of about thirty dollars. They were arrested by Officer John Gladney and locked up in the city jail. They will be given a hearing before Judge Bird this morning.

—Go to the Court-house to-night.

—We learn from good authority that there is an impression among country people that yellow fever prevails in Cairo. This belief is entirely erroneous. There is not now, nor has there been at any time since the yellow fever made its appearance in New Orleans, a case in this city, and it can be truthfully said, the general health was never better. Country folks need have no fears about coming to Cairo to transact business.

—Go to the Court-house to-night.

—Dr. Ranch, President of the State Board of Health, Dr. John E. Owens, superintending surgeon of the Illinois Central railroad, Dr. Wardner, member of the State Board of Health, and Dr. Dunning, quarantine physician, composed the medical delegation which, accompanied by friends, viewed the grounds, in the vicinity of Fillmore yesterday evening, for the proposed quarantine hospital.

—Go to the Court-house to-night.

—Judge Bird returned home from Metropolis yesterday afternoon. He says the celebration held there on Thursday, of the Emancipation of the West Indies, drew out the largest crowd of colored people that has assembled in Southern Illinois for years. J. R. Thomas, the Republican candidate for congress, was to have delivered an address, but owing to a severe cold, which rendered him unable to speak above a whisper, he could not speak. It is all right though, for after election he will have discovered that he would have wasted his breath for nothing.

—The news of the death of Mrs. Dr. Casey, of Mound City, though not unexpected, will be received with sadness by her many friends in Cairo. She died yesterday afternoon about three o'clock. Mrs. Casey had been in a feeble state of health for a long time, having been attacked by a paralytic stroke some two years ago, and later having suffered from heart disease. She was resigned to her fate and met death with a fortitude worthy her character. Mrs. Casey was a woman of superior qualities, and her loss will be deeply felt in the community. Her husband and children have the sympathy of a very large circle of friends in their deep and irreparable loss.

—Hear Judge Allen to-night.

—On Thursday morning a young country boy came to the city and in a very little while after his arrival fell in with a negro and a white man who beat him out of ten dollars by an old confidence game, near the St. Charles Hotel. He was on his way to find a policeman when he met Geo. Chandler, a hotel runner, who, upon learning the boy's mission, immediately turned policeman himself. He told the boy he must have a few dollars to carry out his plan in catching the confidence men, which the youngster gave to him. Chandler then told the boy to go up town and he would meet him in half an hour. The youth did as he was directed, but Chandler failed to turn up, and the boy hunted up Officer John Hogan and told him his story. Hogan was but a few moments in ferreting Chandler out, whom he took before Justice Robinson for a hearing. After hearing the evidence, Justice Robinson held the prisoner to bail in the sum of one hundred dollars, to appear at the coming term of the circuit court. Chandler is a bad one. He has had several terms in the Kentucky penitentiary, and has been in the county jail here several times for stealing.

WINTER'S PHOTOGRAPHIC GALLERY.—Strangers in the city, or those intending to visit Cairo, are invited to visit Winter's photographic parlors, on Sixth street, between Commercial and Washington avenues, and examine specimens of his work on exhibition there.

[Jonesboro Convention.]

Resolved, That the vast majority of the people are laboring men, who produce the wealth of the country, while the legislation inaugurated by the Republican party has been in favor of the bondholder and the moneyed power; and we now demand that in future the legislation of the country shall be in favor of the laboring masses, and not of those who are controlling capital to the injury and oppression of labor.

—AT THE—
Court-house To-Night.

Judge Allen will address the people of Cairo upon the real issues of the times at the Court-house, to-night at eight o'clock. Everybody is invited irrespective of color, creed, sex or nationality. It will be an old-time Democratic love feast, and how to achieve the blessings of a lasting peace and of a prosperity that will be felt throughout the land will be the subjects discussed on.

THE GOLDEN CROWN AGAIN—ANOTHER CARD FROM DR. WHITHEAD TO DR. DUNNING—TELEGRAM FROM DR. AUSTIN.

The following card from Dr. Whitehead, of Vicksburg, to Dr. Dunning, will explain itself:

VICKSBURG, August 7th, 1878.

I forgot to say in my letter of yesterday that Dr. O'Leary visited a lady on the Golden Crown, and would not permit her to land here because the case was "suspicious."

P. F. WHITEHEAD.

Dr. Balfour, health officer, also saw her, and says he told the captain that he thought it was a case of yellow fever.

FROM DR. AUSTIN.

The dispatch below was received by Dr. Dunning from Dr. Austin, health officer at New Orleans, at eight o'clock last evening:

NEW ORLEANS, August 9, 1878.

Dr. Dunning:—This is to certify that I have inspected all the passengers before leaving New Orleans this day on train No. 1 and find them all free from all symptoms of yellow fever. From this time all the sleeping cars will be fumigated and the baggage disinfected.

WM. G. AUSTIN, M. D.

Health Officer.

CLEAR THE WAY.—For the escape from the system of its waste and debris, which, if retained, would vitiate the bodily fluids and overthrow health, that important channel of exit, the bowels, may be kept permanently free from obstructions by using the non-gripping, gently acting and agreeable cathartic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which not only liberates impurities, but invigorates the lining of the intestinal canal when weakened by constipation or the unwise use of violent purgatives. The stomach, liver and urinary organs are likewise reinforced and aroused to healthful action by this beneficent tonic and corrective, and every organ, fiber, muscle and nerve experiences a share of its invigorating influence. Unobjectionable in flavor, a most genial and wholesome medicinal stimulant, and owing its efficacy to botanic sources exclusively, it is the remedy best adapted to household use on account of its safety, wide scope and speedy action.

SMOKERS, if you wish a fine "Key West" or "Imported" cigar, call at Kornsmeier's cigar store. It is the only place in the city almost daily in receipt of fresh goods.

WHO WAS HE?

A STRANGER WHO PUZZLES THE POLICE—HIS EXTRAVAGANT EXPLOITS IN CAIRO WITH ONE OF THE DEMI-MONDES—WAS HE A BANK ROBBER?

About ten days ago a man apparently about thirty years of age, medium height, rather heavy set, with light complexion and light hair and mustache, registered at the Planters' House as H. G. Wilson, and requested the clerk to give him a good room, as he intended staying several days. Mr. Wilson had an unusually large amount of luggage, consisting in part of a Saratoga trunk, one large and one small valise and sundry bundles, and handed Mr. Kelley, the superintendent of the hotel, a roll of bills containing eight hundred dollars, which he desired should be locked up in the vault for safe keeping. This was in the morning and Mr. Wilson, seemingly at a loss for something to occupy his mind, lingered around the hotel nearly all day and until late that night, when he retired. The next morning he arose early and after eating a hearty breakfast and smoking a cigar, started out for a walk and did not turn up again until supper time, when he appeared and after parading of his evening meal and requesting Mr. Kelly for a portion of his money, which he got, took his leave again. Nothing was seen or heard of him after this until the next night, when the people about the hotel having become interested in his case, learned that he was spending his time at a well-known house on Thirteenth street, with a young woman of very doubtful character, on whom he was lavishing his money in presents of jewelry, buggy rides and wine. In registering his name at the hotel, Mr. Wilson neglected to name the point from whence he came, and this, with his conduct, somewhat aroused the suspicions of Mr. Kelly, who gave to Detective John Sheehan, his history so far as he was acquainted with it. Mr. Sheehan, who is not often out of the way very far when he makes up his mind in regard to gentlemen of the stamp of Wilson, determined to inquire into his case. Accordingly he set out in search of his man, in company with officer John Hogan. Wilson was found in the house on Thirteenth street referred to above, apparently greatly enjoying the society of his lady friend. Detective Sheehan had no difficulty in gaining an interview with Wilson, who said he was a New Orleans man. He was in the grocery business there with his brother, as he had been for more than ten years. Their house was No. 63 Common street. He was on his way east to transact business for the firm, and had stopped for a few days here to rest. After the officers told their story, Wilson left the house in company with Messrs. Sheehan and Hogan, walking with them to the corner of Eighth street and Commercial avenue, saying he would go to the hotel and if they desired to see him again they would find him there. During all his conversation with the officers, Wilson showed no signs of alarm, but seemed to be much amused at their inquisitiveness. As soon as Detective Sheehan left Wilson, he went to the Western Union telegraph office and wired a message to Chief of Police Boylan, at New Orleans, asking for information in regard to Wilson. The answer came back that No. 63 Common street had been unoccupied for more than a year, and that such a man as H. G. Wilson was unknown there.

This convinced the officer that Wilson was a bold worth catching, and he immediately set out in search of him. The first place he visited was the hotel. Wilson had been there, and had drawn a all of the money remaining in the safe with the exception of enough to pay his board, which he said he would leave, as he did not want the hotel to be out any day if he happened to be garrotted before he got back. With this Wilson left the house, and since that time no tidings of him have been heard, though Detective Sheehan searched every nook and corner for him. Wilson's baggage is still at the Planters' House. Among other things left by him are two fine suits of clothes, a half dozen of the finest shirts, a quantity of underclothing, etc. Since his departure the officers have been led to the belief that Wilson is an experienced crooked man, and that he could tell a great deal, if he could be caught and wanted to, of more than one of the big bank robberies that have been committed in this country within the past few years.

NOTICE is hereby given that the garbage wagon will remove daily (excepting Sundays), from the front of all houses, all vegetables and dry kitchen offal of every description, provided the same is placed in boxes or barrels and placed in convenient locations in front of said houses.

ORDINANCES.

ORDINANCE NO. 20.

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE EXTENSION OF ST. CHARLES STREET AND FOR THE LAYING OF RAILROAD TRACKS THEREON.

Be it ordained by the city council of the city of Cairo:

SECTION 1. That St. Charles street be, and the same is hereby extended sixty (60) feet wide westwardly across the piece of land known as the "Lot 10" strip" to the southeasterly end of Commercial avenue, the southeasterly boundary line of said extended street to have a line drawn from the southeasterly corner of the numbered lot 10, to the southeasterly end of block numbered seventeen (17), to said city of Cairo the portion of said 100 feet strip covered by said extended street being now owned by this city.

SECTION 2. That the right is hereby reserved and granted to the Cairo and Vincennes railroad company to lay down and operate across said extended street such railroad track or tracks as will enable said railroad company to properly and conveniently convert and use the local depot grounds and buildings of said company on either side of said extended street provided that any track of tracks so laid on said extended street, shall be planked by said railroad company in the same manner as is provided in the city ordinances of this city for the planking of railroad tracks at the intersection of streets.

Approved August 5th, 1878.

HENRY WINTER, Mayor, City of Cairo.
